PET CBD DOSING GUIDE

CBD for Pets: Dosing Tips

Be sure to administer our CBD pet products with healthy foods that are rich in high quality and species appropriate fats for better absorption. As a general rule, Earth Buddy suggests to always start dosing low and go slow for a few days before increasing.

What species of Pet

Cats & Dogs metabolize what they consume very differently. It is also important to consider activity level and lifestyle of your pet. Older and obese pets may require a higher dose, whereas younger & more active pets may require lower.

Consult with a Holistic Veterinarian

If your pet is on any medications please consult with a holistic veterinarian. Many will do online consultations.

Quality is number one

Not all CBD pet products are the same. Many pet products are NOT made by the company selling it and sourced from a variety of farms and 3rd party brokers. This poses a lot of risk and uncertainty on whether the product will be consistent and safe. That is why Earth Buddy grows and manufactures all of it's products in Longmont, CO. Earth Buddy can trace every step of our products back to the very seeds that were planted on our farm.

Pet CBD Checklist

Safety first

CBD for pets is extremely safe & forgiving. To start, some trial & error might be required to enhance the health of your pet. Good news is there are little, to no side-effects compared to traditional pharmaceuticals. Keep plenty of water available and dont forget belly rubs!

Choosing an Earth Buddy product

Earth Buddy offers a wide variety of natural remedies for dogs & cats. That is why we encourage pet owners to individually determine how much CBD they should give their pet on an as-needed basis. Figure out how your cat or dog can benefit from CBD first then explore our products to find the best option.

How much to start with

For a safe starting dosage, all of our products suggest starting at:

1-3mg per 10lbs. body weight

Depending on your pet's level of discomfort, we typically suggest giving this dosage for the first few days with option to increase on an as-needed basis. There is no "one size fits all" dosage for cats & dogs, so do not be afraid to experiment and vary dosage depending on your pet's needs.

Remember: Start low & go slow!

Time of day

Some of our products like Hemp Extracts, Quick Calm, or Gut Health can have more of a calming benefit, so these products might be best for later in the day or situationally. While other products like our Focus+Immune mushroom & hemp capsules or Hemp Hearts might be better for use during the day to enhance health and longevity.
